PIRL

The Possum PIRL

The Possum PIRL is attached to the PC, from which the user can then operate the PC remotely by using his or her environmental control unit in the normal way.

The PIRL enables simple remote access and control of communication aids and computers. Users can remotely operate compatible pieces of assistive technology with just one single switch. The PIRL is small, lightweight and can be run from a rechargeable battery for those requiring more mobility or a computer keyboard port.
